Tiresias Award

Purpose: This award was created by the Sexual and Gender Diversity Studies Committee (S&GDSCO) and awarded for the first time in 2021. Its purpose is to foster member participation in the creation of knowledge, and knowledge transfer and exchange within the intersection of psychoanalysis and sexual and gender diversity. The S&GDSCO hopes these priorities will help as directives to be addressed in the competing papers.

Understanding dilemmas of pathology and health as they play out in the realm of gender when working with sexual and gender diverse patients.

An intersectional approach that considers racial and ethnic diversity within sexual and gender diverse patients.

Revision of classic papers and proposals of fresh, original conceptualizations of understanding the enigma/ence towards sexual and gender diverse patients (inside and outside the clinical situation).

Award: The award will comprise US$1000 to the winner paper and the opportunity to present the winning paper, depending on space availability at the Congress.
